Profiles in Diversity Journal Announces the Women Worth Watching® in STEM Award Winners for 2020

CLEVELAND, OH, March 3, 2020 – Profiles in Diversity Journal announced today names of the 40 Women Worth Watching in STEM® Award recipients for 2020. The winners will be profiled in the magazine’s upcoming 2020 spring issue. In addition, each winner will receive a crystal Women Worth Watching in STEM award.

Each woman was nominated by a leader or colleague within the organization where she is employed, based on her contributions, leadership, mentoring, and achievements in the area of science, technology, engineering, or mathematics. This is the second group of Women Worth Watching in STEM Award recipients that the magazine has honored in this way.

“Women are continuing to blaze trails and break through barriers to succeed in STEM fields, and we are proud to recognize their talents, commitment, and hard work. We are also delighted to acknowledge and congratulate the organizations that support them,” says PDJ Publisher James R. Rector. “Recognizing the achievements of women in STEM with this award is another important step in the evolution of diversity and inclusion in the workplace, and an essential part of a global strategy to innovate, educate, and build a more connected world.”

Profiles in Diversity Journal is pleased to present the Women Worth Watching in STEM Awards winners for 2020:
